FRANK CROKER HAS TO REJUDGE A BULL TERRIER CLASS. (Dampionship Honors Bestowed on Hands Up-Raper Says the Airedales Are Up to Crystal Palace Form-Mrs. A. De Witt Cochrane Leads In a Winner.

The attendance at the Ladies' Kennel The attendance at the Ladies' Kennel Association show yesterday in Madison Square Garden surprised everybody. A wholesome, eager, lively sort of a gathering had been expected in the afternoon, and this came true, but the doggy experts were soon lost sight of in the rush of the casual sightseers, the folks who make our theatres and hotels pay. The casuals rubbed shoulders with the men and women of the inner and hotels pay. The casuals rubbed shoul-ders with the men and women of the inner-circles in the social swim; and, even though the intriopers knew nothing of class, they had a "waggle, wiggle" for their money from tails of the dogs. In all it was the best satendance for a second day ever witnessed at a dog show in this city, and a guarantee that to-day and to-morrow will have quite as great an assemblage.

A. H. Vredenburg, Secretary of the American Kennel Club, made the rounds as an oncoker. Always a possimist, Mr. Vreden-burg did not see much to enliven him. "I am so sorry," said Mr. Vredenburg.
"The women have put up $2,000 more than the Westminster Club in prizes, and they deserve a still greater attendance."

Judging was on from morn till nightfall and all the classes except the specials were and all the classes except the specials were finally adjudicated. This leaves only the specials for to-day. As on Wednesday, many women led their dogs into thering Blushes and sweet faces do not count with the judges, but to the onlookers the presence of the women added a charm to the judging. Mrs J. L. Kernochan led out some Irish ter-riers that won ribbons; Miss May Bird had out a very well-headed bulldog, but the woman who won the greatest number of blue ribbons was Mrs. R. F. Mayhew, who held the leash on the great wire-haired fox terrier, Hands

Up, who swept the board in his division.

An innovation at an American show opened the serious work of the day. At English thows when a judgment is challenged it is the right of the dissatisfied person to chal-lenge, dog against dog, and to make a bet on the result. The shows held under American Kennel Club rules concede this right, but it is one that was never exercised until yes-terday. The outcome makes a record. It seems that Hinckel and Sniper, two Albany. seems that finded and Shiper, two Abany, men, took exception to the placing in Class 189, for bull terrier puppy bitches, in which George Raper had placed Frank F. Dole's Edgewood Jean II. first and Hinckei and

George Raper had placed Frank F. Dole's Edgewood Jean II. first and Hinckei and Sniper's Triiby II. next in line. The owners of the two dogs made a bet of $500 on the match and Frank H. Croker, a noted owner of bull terriers and a son of the politician, was selected for the referee.

There was nothing like it ever seen at an American dog show. The two puppies were led out by their owners into a clear space near the Fourth avenue entrance. Millionaire dog owners, natty trainers, greasy kennel men and motley outsiders pressed about and formed a ring about the two dogs, mere puppies both, to be judged. Mr. Croker looked both over carefully and then decided in favor of Dole's Edgewood Jean II. A compact, short-bodied dog, with a fine head, it scored over Hinckel and Sniper's Trilby II., which had a fine front, but behind was decidedly of the whiftet order.

This introduced the serious work of the day, and as wire-coated fox terriers were first in line, George Raper was the judge to first attract notice. There was a crowd waiting before he appeared. Just when the awaiting persons were getting anxious in came Raper, clad to head and foot in a black worsted ulster specked out with white dots, a style called "Angel's Tears" in London. Taking up the heaviest class first, the wirehaired fox terriers, Raper awarded the greatest honors to Hands Up, led into the ring by Mrs. R. F. Mayhew, which makes this grand type of the breed now a champion of record. Hrought out at the New York show of 1900, Hands Up then won the Challenge cup. Then the dog ventured bravely to England, where, as a reward to courage. Hands Up made a better record than any of the breed ever before sent from these shores. Back home again the anappy, varmint-like Hands Uphas made Mrs. Mayhew happy by sweeping the decks until the final award yesterday that made it a champien. G. M. Carnochan also scored in this division of fox terriers; in fact, he swept the board in the classes for bitches.

The afternoon attendance was up to all records and there was another rush at night. During the lull between the two sessions Raper, the English judge, was asked his opinion of the show.

"It is the most complete and best managed show that I have ever attended," said the globe trotting judge. "In Airedales especially I have never seen a stronger class. The exhibit at the Crystal Palace could not beat it." Forhall Keene won heavily in the Airedales and so did J. Lorillard Arden, but all showed imported dogs. Mr. and Mrs. A. De Witt Cochrane made the best showing with homebred Airedales. Norfolk Clorita bent Hands Up for the cup for the best fox terrier, smooth or wire, in the show, but only because the latter was dull in coat.

The amateurs who served as stewards in the host fox terrier, smooth or wire, in the rings during the judging included George II Gooderham, J. J. Lynn. A. De Witt Cochrane. Murray Boblen, J. A. Caldwell, Marcel Vitt, Charles Leland Thorpe, Samuel T. Peters and A. Appleton.

HONORS FOR COLUMBIA TEAM. Dean Van Amringe Speaks Highly of Athlettes in Presenting Football Souvenirs. The football love feast at Columbia Uniersity yesterday was without doubt the greatest thing of its kind that the local institution has ever known. Fully five hundred students crowded the large lecture room in Havemeyer Hall, and the cheering continued Havemeyer Hall, and the cheering continued for several minutes when Dean J. Howard Van Amringe of the college arose to present the gold footballs to the members of the teams. The dean spoke as follows: "I have been introduced as dean, and cannot deny the soft impeachment, but I am here to-day not as a professor, but first and chiefly as an alumnus profoundly interested in every thing connected with Columbia. I have seen Columbia's football team win glory without undue elation and suffer defeat without undue depression. They have worked with a sturdy heart and a courageous spirit, and in victory or defeat have shown the spirit of true and manly sport.

spirit, and in victory or defeat have shown the spirit of true and manly sport.

"The characteristics of a genuine athlete are to prepare for a contest with conscientious care: in it to bear himself the best he can and do all that is in him for his side, and then to bear the consequences with a cheerful heart and an equable temper. This is the spirit that animates Columbia as much as any other institution. I say again as a mathematician for the nth time that I esteem sport highly. I recognize its value morelly, intellectually as well as physically. We want a well-rounded development—the mind and spirit first, but not without the body. Among other places the student who is physically able should be found on the campus, on the river, on the track or on the gridiron. All of these things are important to the college as a whole."

Prof. Van Amringe then presented the souvenir footballs to Chauncey L. Berrien, William R. Morley, Harold H. Weekes, Edward B. Bruce, Henry Van Hoevenberg, Jr. Algernon K. Boyesen, Frederick B. Irvine, Ira D. Shaw, R. S. Smith and Hugh D. McLellan. Allan B. A. Bradiey, '02 college, the chairman of the meeting, then presented a silver loving cup, 2 feet high, to ex-Capt. William R. Morley as a token of the appreciation of the student body of Morley's services to Columbia athletics and Columbia football. Bradley said: "We present this cup to the man who was half back on the team in 1890 which defeated Yale; the captain and half back of the team in 1900 which defeated Princeton; the captain and half back of the team in 1900 which defeated Princeton; the captain and half back of the team of 1901 which defeated Pennsylvania."

Morley in reply spoke of the loyalty and he had to make several more short specches.

OVATION FOR YOUNG CORBETT. Welcomed to His Home in Denver-Jeffries

Talks of Sharkey. DENVER, Dec. 19. - The champion heavyweight and Young Corbett arrived here to-day and the latter was the central figure in the biggest evation ever given to a pugilist in Denver. The principal streets were lined with cheering crowds anxious to see the Denver champion and to show him their pride in his victory.

Although prizefights are now under the ban in Denver, a platoon of police at the head of the procession gave the affair the appearance of having official sanction. The two champions, with their managers, rode together and there were about forty car-riages in line. To-night there was a recep

Kid Broad Makes Several Matches.

Kid Broad, the Cleveland pugilist, has outlined a long programme of engagements in the ring which will keep him busy for some time to come. Two weeks from next Monday night, Broad is slated to tackle Tim Callahan at Chiladelphia in a six-round bout. On Jan 16, at Detroit, Broad is down to meet Eddie Santry of Chicago for fifteen rounds, and on Jan. 22, at Louisville, Broad has been chosen to meet some good man in his class chosen to meet some good man in his class for twenty rounds, possibly Joe Bernstein or Benny Yaeger, the "Tipton Slasher" A week later. Broad is to tackle a good 128-pounder at Chicago for six rounds. His opponent has not been selected, but it is understood that Ole Olson, the crack Calcago featherweight, will be his rival. Broad still insists that he has prior right to meet Young Corbett over McGovern or Dave Sullivan. Broad declares that as he has defeated Corbett already, the latter cannot very well sidetrack him without losing prestige with the public.

CHICAGO. Dec. 19—Benny Yaeger of Chicago, the "Tipton Slasher," received the decision in six rounds over Joe Bernstein of New York at the Olympic Club here last night. The fight went the limit after Yaeger had a shade the better of it all the way through particularly in the final round, when he had the New Yorker almost out and hugging and clinching to save himself. Yanger ging and clinching to save himself. Yaeger rushed at the start playing constantly for liernatein's body. Bernstein booked a left to the head and they went into a fierce rally, both landing with right and left on the stomach. Bernstein jushed Yaeger twice in the face without a return and swung a right to the wind. Yaeger smashed a right on the heart and followed with a savage body punch that staggered flernstein. Yaeger kept up his forming taction in the second and third reunds. He was much the stronger and out-roughed flernetein with case in the clinches.

SCHAEFER LEADS BARUTEL. Champion and Frenchman Cross Cues

Knickerbocker Billiard Academy. Jake Schaefer and Louis Barutel played the first block of 400 points of a 1,200-point billiard match at the Knickerbooker Academy. Brooklyn, last night, the style of game being 18-inch balk line, two shots in, and the in-centive a purse for the winner. The cham-pion finished his first section of points with 400 to Barutel's 372. The contest was in-teresting and was enjoyed by a good-sized gathering of billiard lovers.

The Frenchman started off confidently.

The Frenchman started off confidently. Schaefer missed the opening shot and his opponent ran 16 in easy, graceful fashion. When he missed he left a set-up and in jig time Jake had passed him, rolling up an even score before he missed a kiss shot. Barutel responded with 20, both men culling their caroms in small areas of the table. The first shot of any length was made by Schaefer in his third inning, a three-cushion diver in his third inning, a three-cushion fiver played with accuracy and netting good po-his turns at the table brought billiards in large batches. He hurried past the hundred mark in the fifth inning and seemed to revel in the fact that he had two shots in instead of only one. He executed a trio of masses in his second 45 run in faultiess fashion. Being allowed to make a masse without having to send the balls out the first time was evidently a big help.

Schaefer was 69 points ahead when he finished his seventh inning, but the Parisian, nothing daunted, coaxed 34 from the ivories in one session and the score was Schaefer, 127: Barutel, 92. Both of the players had runs terminated suddenly by the cue ball slipping through the narrowest of spaces on spread draws to the cushion. A hair would not have gone between the cue and carom ball so slight were the margin of the misses. Schaefer's stroke was claintly delicate—too much so once when he missed a half follow for want of sufficient force.

A follow kiss shot by the Frenchman, which was one of a pretty group of 36, was edifying and intricate, precision in force and direction being an essential to its making. Schaefer in turn made a five-cushion shot. The red ball kissed the cue ball en route, but so gentle was the uninvited carees that it only delayed the count, not seriously swerving the cue ball from the path of duty.

With Schaefer at 224, Barutel had 153 to his credit. A miscue following a missed one-cushion shot gave Schaefer two goose eggs in succession and cut down his average. However, he maintained a comfortable lead and had 306 when Barutel's string showed 236. The Frenchman then cut loose with a sequence of billiards of the finest type, and before he sat down had rushed past Schaefer with a lusty run of 74, making him 3 shead. Most of the 74 was the outcome of close play, but several times Barutel's string showed 256. The Frenchman then cut loose with a sequence of billiards of the finest type, and before he sat down had rushed past Schaefer—0, 20, 48, 2, 48, 14, 1, 16, 9, 7, 28, 27, 1, 5, 12, 0, 0, 50, 13, 12, 0, 0, 91, 2, 6, 7, 19, 28, 10

SCANDAL OVER STEEPLECHASE

JOCKEYS AT NEW ORLEANS SAID TO HAVE MADE UP RACE.

Plot, Though a Week Old, Not Yet Investigated-Garter Bana Sensational Winner at 100 to 1 -- Four Favorites Win-Rumor That Sloan Is Married. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 19 .- A scandal that will probably equal the "Isen case," of last winter, when a number of owners and jockeys were ruled off the turf for life, is brewing. Ever since the steeplechase race of last Fri day there have been all kinds of stories affoat concerning the race, and judging by the efforts of Divertissement yesterday the stories have in part been substantiated. According to talk that began immediately after the race last Friday, jockeys that were to ride in the race met in a sporting resort on Thursday night and decided to bet on, or at least to have some one to bet on, the horse that they would select to win. Divertissement was the one selected and cipher messages were sent away to a number of cities where turf exchanges are operated. It is said that those in on the deal had some one else to sign the message deal had some one else to sign the message so as to leave them out, in case anything came up. The amount won by the jockeys and the party that put up the money is said to be in the neighborhood of $40,000. The out-of-town poolrooms were hard hit, while two in Providence were practically put out of business. It may be said that so far as known not one of the owners was in on the deal, and it was strictly a "jockey's feast." The stewards have not as yet taken any action in the matter, but it is expected that they

A story is current here that Tod Sloan, the former jockey, is married and his bride is a French girl. Cash Sloan, his brother, who is here, was seen and said that he knew about his brother's matrimonial venture only from what he had heard. He also said that he met Tod in Paris six weeks ago and that he had nothing then the seen and that he had nothing then the seen and the had nothing then the seen and the had nothing then the seen and the seen and the had nothing then the seen and ago and that he had nothing then to say about his marriage. Maring Information.

MINT SAUCE, 6 to 5, WON, TREBOR, 6 to 5, WON,

MARIE BELL, 7 to 5, WON,

Were the good things NAMED TO WIN in our wire on the New Orleans races yesterday. "Plunge for the limit on MINT SAUCE straight. Can't lose," was the positive advice given on MINT SAUCE. "TREBOR worth a plunge bet straight," was the wording of our wire on TREBOR. MARIE BELL was named without comment. Our promised long shot was practically left at the post.

To-day and to-morrow our three-horse wire will advise a plunge on a few surprises that will cause so-called form players to wonder how such things can be. As in the case of LORD QUEX, which won at 10 to 1 on Tuesday and on which our wire advised a "plunge for the limit." these horses have been reserved for easy spots and will be cut loose. Two of them start to-day. Suit yourself about getting our information on these. Terms 810 daily; 850 per week. Out-of-town orders telegraphed.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB COMBINE.

Nothing Definite Done as Yet and Opposition at Hand.

There is nothing as yet that is definite concerning the probability of an associa-tion of automobile clubs. The subject came up before the Automobile Club of America at the monthly meeting on Tuesday night, but without positive result. Because it is affiliated with the French, German and English clubs, the A. C. A. contends that it is the senior body in America. Long Island and Chicago take expection to the and there and Chicago take exception to this, and there is likely to be considerable friction before there is any amalgamation of auto clubs.

The following standing committees have been appointed for 1902:

John Piening, the "Butcher Boy," had two opponents at the London Theatre on the Bowery last night, where he is meeting all comers this week. They were Otto Hess of this city and Emile Schmidt of Brooklyn. Johnny Dunn agrees to give $25 to each man if they stayed afteen minutes with Piening. if they stayed fifteen minutes with Piening. Hess was the first to tackle Piening and catch-as-catch-can rules prevailed. Plen-ing won in 7 minutes and 10 seconds. Withing won in 7 minutes and 10 seconds. Without any intermission Piening took on Emile Schmidt. Piening won the fall in 6 minutes and 33 seconds. The pair met at Greco-Roman style. Young Acton, who is filling an engagement at the same theatre in conjunction with Piening, also met two men. Max Boland of Newark, was the first. He was thrown in 6 minutes. Harry Leroy of England followed. Leroy made a good spurt at the start, but Acton was too quick for him and the Englishman was defeated in 8 minutes and 14 seconds. Both bouts were decided at catch-as-catch-can.

In the afternoon Piening's adversary was Claus Rodenback. The latter was thrown in 5 minutes and 18 seconds. Young Acton met Leo Metz and won in 6 minutes and 62 seconds.

The Atlas A. C. would like to arrange games with out-of-town teams offering suitable inducements. Address Henry Baer, 180 East Ninety-fourth street. The Dartmouth College played Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass., on Tuesday night, Both teams played a fast game, the Holy Cross team winning by 25 to 19.
